Custom Portraits of Fallen Servicemen and Women Drawn Free of Charge

*By Internationally Acclaimed Artist Michael Reagan
4,400 Portraits Completed for Families as of 1 January 2016*

- WHAT: Professional custom hand-drawn portraits are available free of charge to the families of all servicemen and women who have been killed in Iraq and Afghanistan or anywhere in the War against Terrorism from portrait artist Michael Reagan.
- BY WHOM: Michael Reagan, an internationally-acclaimed portrait artist who lives near Seattle has assisted charities in raising over $10 million through donated autographed celebrity portraits. Michael is offering to draw portraits of all service personnel who gave their lives in Iraq or Afghanistan based on requests from the family. As a portrait artist for more than 30 years, Mr. Reagan has drawn approximately 10,000 portraits including 1,500 autographed portraits of celebrities, professional athletes, US presidents and other heads of state.
- WHY: As a US Marine Vietnam War combat veteran, Reagan understands and empathizes with the extreme challenges faced by servicemen and women, as well as the ultimate sacrifice their families make. He started this project after receiving a request for a custom commission from the wife of a soldier killed in Iraq. It is his passion to share his portrait-drawing talents with Fallen Hero families as a comfort in their grief and to honor their loved ones' sacrifice for our country.
- HOW: Portraits are drawn from a photo of the serviceman or woman. All requests for drawings of service personnel killed in the War against Terrorism will be honored however only one portrait per family can be drawn. Portraits will be completed on a first come, first served basis. Requests can be made by a spouse, a parent, immediate family member or friend of the family.
- REQUEST A PORTRAIT: Go to www.fallenheroesproject.org and click on the "Request a Portrait" page. You can also contact Eric Herzberg at fallen.heroes@hotmail.com or call 571-633-7732.
